

DRAGONBOARD- Wall & Ceiling Projects

An indoor air quality scientist confirmed that there was indeed an extensive mold problem in this home owner's basement office, which needed to be resolved immediately. Due to onset agonizing allergies the owner decided to contact a mold remediation company. The natural inclination was to use a product that was moldproof. Unfortunately they could not offer any solutions or suggestions to rebuild the space using a mold preventive product. As a result, the owner sought DragonBoard to prevent further problems.
